ALUMINUM TRAILERS: THE SMART CHOICE

Per pound, aluminum has 1.5 times the strength of steel. Aluminum does not rust, is more corrosion resistant and does not require constant repainting. Aluminum is the optimal material for trailers. The result, Travis aluminum trailers are considerably lighter than alternative steel designs. For the operator, this means more payload and profit every trip, every day.

Newer aluminum trailer designs are more aerodynamic. When combined with a greater payload, this results in decreased fuel costs which are ever-increasing critical success factors for our customers. With a long history of higher resale values, the financial benefit of aluminum trailers continues well into the future. Aluminum is the smart choice.

WHY TRAVIS ALUMINUM TRAILERS?

The short answer is design. Travis' engineering has not only resulted in many breakthrough innovations over the years but also hundreds of continuously enhanced details. The intent and end result have always been to deliver the greatest possible value to our customer.

Unlike other trailer manufacturers, our superior design features tend to be standard, not expensive add-ons. Examples of these are our standard glueless rubber sealed tailgate, Wabco 4S/2M ABS system, Hendrickson INTRAAX air ride, 5.5" deep cross-members, aluminum I beam subframe, greasable top hangers and so much more.

But there is even more: Our basic end dump's 5-year limited warranty gives you peace of mind that your trailer can be well maintained, and your investment protected. When parts and service are needed we'll not only be there but you will notice that our parts pricing (like our trailers) is designed for the long-term. It is simple, whether it is design, quality, warranty, price, delivery or service, we want you not just as a customer but as a repeat customer.

Some of our superior design related strengths are

- Tapered body, standard on all models.
- Optional, patented SST floor design to improve trailer strength during forklift operations. (Standard on The Wave.)
- Robotically solid welded sides for added strength and longer life.
- Solid welded rear gates.
- Flared, 5.5" deep floor cross-members; the deepest in the industry, welded at even spaces to the floor to reduced floor wash-boarding.
- The best barn door in the business —totally ground-operated, featuring heavy-duty steel hinges that bolt through the door.
- An easy-to-operate grain/coal door, with a unique stay-aligned track and a safer, side operated handle.
- The all new Wave design, a dual walled, aerodynamic design that provides strength, durability, economy and beauty.
